PREFACE.

Previous to the year 1873 the Triennial Catalogues which had been issued by this University contained hardly anything more than a list of the names of each class, printed in Latin. These Catalogues were comparatively valueless so far as any information regarding the graduates was concerned. Consequently, an attempt was made to improve upon the old plan by printing the edition of 1873 in English, and by giving certain information of general interest with reference to each of the graduates. The statement of each person was intended to contain a list of the honors which he had received, and his occupation and address. Notwithstanding the many errors which unavoidably crept into that issue, the idea of the change was generally well received by the Alumni.

But the impracticability of issuing such a catalogue every three years has suggested the substitution of the name "General Catalogue"—which will permit it to be published more or less frequently as occasion may demand. With this change, the design of the Catalogue has also been broadened so as to include a brief sketch of each Alumnus—containing a list of the various occupations or positions which he has held, as well as the academic and official honors which have been conferred upon him. Although great pains have been taken to render these statements accurate and complete, it cannot be expected that they are entirely free from errors. It is hoped, however, that by the voluntary co-operation of the graduates, the mistakes may be eliminated and the deficiencies supplied in the subsequent editions.

This Catalogue contains the names of those persons only who have received degrees from this University. If those also were recorded who have at different times been connected with the various classes, the number would be more than doubled. Every Alumnus herein mentioned must be understood to have received at graduation the degree of BACHELOR OF ARTS, except when the degree of BACHELOR OF SCIENCE is specially designated.

By way of further explanation, it should be said that the apparently large number of "honorary graduates" in the early years of the University is due to the fact that the degree of A. M. was conferred upon many who had already taken a course of study in Madison University, and in these cases the degree is more strictly a second degree "in course" than an "honorary" one.

All degrees mentioned in the Catalogue were conferred by this University—unless referred to another source. The asterisk [*] wherever it occurs indicates the decease of the person opposite whose name it is placed.

Every graduate receiving this will confer a favor by correcting his own record, if defective, and by communicating to Prof. W. C. Morey any information or suggestion which will improve the next edition.
